Never failing spring

Harrison Neal is shown at the spring house on the Neal farm in Neal Valley that has been in his family for 168 years. Inside is a five foot deep concrete box, large enough to hold around 500 gallons of water, which is pumped into the house and outbuildings. The spring house has been there for over 70 years. The spring itself has never failed during the 168 years it has been in the Neal family. See story by W. Lynn Nickell elsewhere in this edition.

No water shortage in West Liberty

West Liberty's population has grown, but there's no water shortage for new residents along Riverside Drive—a colony of beavers that so far has ignored the Army Corps of Engineers' prohibition against impeding the flow of water into Cave Run Lake. Their dam is shown above. This colony, according to neighbors, has at least six beavers, including at least two kits. It is theorized that the new dam provided an easy way across the river for a family of raccoons that pillaged gardens in the neighborhood during the summer. At least six of the raccoons have been caught and relocated—three by an irate gardener and three more that were caught during the city's recent roundup of stray cats. Deer, turkeys, raccoons, beavers, possums, skunks, squirrels, wildcats, bears, coyotes—all frequent West Liberty's environs. O. W. Evans said he wouldn't be surprised "they" start reintroducing wolves to the area soon, and maybe some Indians, too. It could be. Why else build an $18 million judicial center constructed like a fortress in the middle of West Liberty if not as a safe haven for citizens in the event of an uprising? Surely, such a massive edifice is not needed just to insure the safety of a handful of lawyers. West Liberty, of course doesn't have to rely on damming the river to secure it's water supply, thanks to city leaders who had the foresight to build a water treatment plant at Cave Run Lake. As a gesture of good will, maybe O. W. Evans could trap the beavers here, which, if they stay, will become a nuisance, and haul them to Salyersville, which is experiencing a drinking water shortage because the river is so low it cannot supply the town's water system. Now, if Salyersville had a beaver dam like ours they might be in good shape. —EWK

Grassy man dies Oct. 10 in ATV wreck

By Miranda Cantrell
James

County emergency services personnel responded to an ATV accident that fatally injured a local man on Friday, Oct. 10, at Grassy Creek.

Coroner Kenny Perry said Clark C. Phipps, 64, never returned to his home after he left on the ATV at approximately 2 p.m. to survey his cattle.

"Clark's wife, Lois, became alarmed when he had not returned after several hours," Perry said. "His son, Leroy Phipps, went to look for Clark and found him trapped under the ATV near a steep grade around 6 p.m. Leroy removed Clark from underneath the ATV, but Clark had likely been dead for some time."

Perry pronounced Clark Phipps dead at the scene as a result of blunt force to the torso from an apparent ATV rollover.

Agencies responding to the accident included the Morgan County Ambulance Service, Morgan County Rescue Squad, Caney Valley Fire Department and Kentucky State Police.

Clark Phipps was a retired Licking Valley RECC lineman and farmer, and a member of Grassy Lick Enterprise Baptist Church.

Funeral services were conducted 1 p.m. Monday, Oct. 13, at Potter Funeral Home, with Bros. Kenny Gevedon and Jim Tyra officiating.

As winter approaches, Ol' Morgan, resplendent in her autumn colors, is showing off her raimant. Though plagued by drought, balmy, sunny days have made life a pleasure for residents going about their daily business, whether at work in the field, hunting whitetail deer and small game on wooded hillsides or driving to and from work. The hills are ablaze with red, yellow, and orange and all shades of color in between. It's a good time to be alive in the Bluegrass County of the Mountains! Though little rain is expected, a cold front is expected to blow in on the weekend; displaced Morgan Countians thinking of returning for a weekend might not want to delay their trip if they wish to enjoy the magnificent colors of Ol' Morgan in autumn.

Area schools are awarded mini-grants

MOREHEAD, Ky.—The Kentucky Appalachian Higher Education Center (KY AHED) awarded checks in the amount of $5,000 each to 20 high schools and four community and technical colleges during a ceremony recently at Morehead State University.

The schools applied for competitive mini-grants and were required to develop a one year college access program that they will implement in their schools to help raise college-going rates.

The 20 grantee high schools for this year are Prestonsburg, Elliott County, Buckhorn, Powell County, Wolfe County, West Carter, Owsley County, Lee County, Hazard Independent, Jackson City, Harlan County, Knott County, Knox County, North Laurel, Lawrence County, Leslie County, Letcher County, Lewis County, Magoffin County, and Morgan County. The four community and technical colleges are Ashland, Big Sandy, Hazard and Southeast.

The KY AHED Center, headquartered at MSU, works under a grant received from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) in Washington, D.C. and the Governor's Office of Local Government.

To receive a mini-grant, new high schools must compete for a one-year Access grant that is specifically designed to focus on activities to encourage students to pursue higher education.

The KY AHED Center will provide continued support to all of these schools to help them achieve significant increases in the number of graduates who go on to pursue higher education.

Additional information is available from Keith Walker, KY AHED grant coordinator, by calling (606) 783-9519.

In Honor Of Mike Jenkins

For over a year Bro. Mike Jenkins, of West Liberty, has battled brain cancer. His faith in the Lord has not wavered during his illness. He has been and continues to be a light to his family and many friends. This poem describes Mike's valiant struggle with this dreaded disease... he is certainly not a quitter. The poem is being dedicated to Mike, his wife, Janie, daughters, Dorothy and Sarah, and their families.

Don't Quit

Don't quit when the tide is lowest,
For it's just about to turn;
Don't quit over doubts and questions,
For there's something you may learn.

Don't quit when the night is darkest,
For it's just a while 'til dawn;
Don't quit when you've run the farthest,
For the race is almost won.

Don't quit when the hill is steepest,
For your goal is almost nigh;
Don't quit, for you're not a failure
Until you fail to try.

--Jill Wolf
You are in our thoughts and prayers,
Dad, Mom, and family;

A man returned home after a long absence and asked his neighbor, "Do you and your wife still have those terrible fights?"

"No, sir," he answered, "not anymore."

"I'm glad," he said. "How did you come to stop quarreling?"

"Couldn't help it," said the neighbor. "My wife died."

It takes two to quarrel. But when you scrap, you reduce everything to scraps. Is it worth it?

While it takes two to quarrel, one can always end it.

The Living Bible says, "Don't quarrel with anyone. Be at peace with everyone. Be gentle and ready to forgive; never hold grudges. Remember, the Lord forgave you, so you must forgive others."

GUEST COMMENTARY

By Larry Webster
Reprinted From
The Big Sandy News

A commentator summed it up the other night, and I believe it was on McCain's channel. In the old days when you only had three networks, only Dan Rather was biased, but now McCain has Fox, and Obama has Keith Olberman. Nobody is fair and balanced, and so you have to flip back and forth every night between the Republican and Democrat cable networks and kind of average out to find out what is happening. The sale of double "A" batteries to power remotes is proping up the world economy.

But what the talking head said is that Barack Obama is an enigma. Now that right there is the problem for him. I am just not sure that people are ready to vote for an enigma. Especially in Eastern Kentucky, where people make no bones about it. They will walk right up to you and tell you that they will never ever vote for an enigma. They will call you an enigma lover if you talk for him.

The real riddle has been McCain, who cannot decide whether to divorce Bush or not. He clearly hates Bush and starts tales on him and gets on debates announces how bad Bush has been, and that is probably because eight years ago in the South Carolina campaign, Bush accused McCain of fathering an enigma child. But when you bash Bush, you lost that nine percent of the American voters who think that the country is going in the right direction. Most of those are Johnson County Pugs, who have kissed the elephant all their lives on the wrong end because an elephant's head and its tail look so much alike that they get mixed up.

So, McCain, seeing himself about to get beat by an enigma, is all over the place. He is against everybody except Israel.

I wouldn't call Obama an enigma. He yells at audiences in a high voice. I would call him a high yeller. If he does win, will he give his Inauguration Speech in hip hop or jive like those two guys in "Airplane?" Will they have to run little interpretations across the bottom of the screen for non-enigmas? Will his limousine have those wheel covers that keep on turning while the limo itself bounces up and down at a stop light, blaring out P. Diddy? Will Michelle serve ribs and common taters and will Queen Elizabeth pig out on chitluns at state dinners? She already eats kidney pie, so she may find hog guts a step up. Will the government be shut down a whole month for March Madness?

For me, I hope the answer is yes. I also hope he lets his hair, which is already turning white, grow out real long and go every which way, like some old abolitionist runaway. He needs to do something to hide those ears.

In a crucial swing state, Virginia, Ralph Stanley is running ads for Barack Obama. Wouldn't it be great if the presidential election was decided by Ralph Stanley?

THE NEAL SPRING IN NEAL VALLEY HAS FLOWED CONTINUOUSLY FOR 168 YEARS

BY W. LYNN NICKELL

Neal Valley is in the city limits of West Liberty. Its appearance of imperturbable peacefulness and quietness doesn't hint at the fact that it is only a couple miles from Main Street. The valley is beautiful the year round, whether in the spring when it is aglow with red and white blooms of redbuds and dogwoods or in the summer when it is a checker board of neat house seats and well-kept lawns, gardens and pasture fields. In late summer, rolls of hay cover the fields and golden rod is a blaze of color along the fence rows. In the winter, especially when a snow covers the ground, it is quiet and beautiful. From the Neal Valley Cemetery, the valley can be viewed and enjoyed, regardless of the season.

Peter K. Neal, his wife, Margaret, and five children were all born in Virginia. Charles Neal, son of Peter, gave land for the cemetery, which contains the grave of Peter Kelly Neal, who acquired the 3,000 acre tract for 40 cents an acre in 1840, according to tradition. Peter was born in 1800 and died in 1869. Peter and his sons built a house beside an ever-flowing spring that is still flows today, despite the severe drought we are in. The spring and its constant supply of clear drinking water was, without a doubt, one of the primary reasons Peter Neal purchased the valley.

The 1900 census lists Harrison Neal and his wife, Susan Haney, with five children, Morton being one of them. Harrison (son of Peter) lived on the site until his death, then his son, Mort, lived there until his death. Mort was born in 1888 and died in 1978. In 1916, he married Mary Thomas. Harrison, Mort's son and grandson of Harrison, lives on the property today. The original Mort Neal house is no longer there.

As for the spring, according to the Neal family, it has provided an unending flow of good, pure water for at least 168 years. During that time, there have been some monumental droughts, just like this year. For many years, Mort and Mary Neal used water from the spring, pumped it into the house and outside buildings. Today, Harrison still uses water from the spring for his household.

The first thing I would wonder about: Is the water safe to drink? Periodically, the Neals

SPURLOCK HOUSE BUILT IN EARLY 1900s

Roger Rose, Eugene Rose's son, acquired the farm in the 1960s. Roger, who tore the old house down in the early 1960s, said, "It had 14 rooms and was built in two sections. I was told at the time that the timber, yellow poplar, was cut on the farm, floated down the river to a saw mill and sawed." This is the same story Eugene Vance (son of Buford) had heard about the house. I would imagine the logs were rafted to Ragland Mills or Farmers in Rowan County. After being sawed, the lumber was brought back to Neal Valley by mule and wagon.

parents), John (Tooge) and Rebecca Caskey (grandparents of Roy Lee Caskey), and John M. and Frances Reed (Billy Reed's grandparents). Today, large sections of the valley belong to the Caskey, Neal and May heirs. The main part of the farm has been in Harrison Neal's family for 168 years.

To the Voters of West Liberty Ward 3 and Wrigley

Dear Mrs. Barker,

Since 2006, the citizens of Wrigley and West Liberty #3 have not had representation on the Morgan County School Board. We feel that we have been misled on numerous occasions and we do not believe that Mrs. Hutchinson can work with other members for the best interest of the students in this district. In addition, we do not believe that she has worked to secure a site for the new school to serve the students of this district.

We would ask that you please consider challenging Mrs. Hutchinson in the upcoming election in November.

Thank you for your consideration.

I received the above letter in July from a group of concerned citizens and had numerous phone calls requesting that I challenge Mrs. Hutchinson to represent the Wrigley/West Liberty Ward #3 School District. After reviewing board minutes from the past two years, I believe that the concerns of the local citizens group were legitimate. That is why I chose to become your school board member candidate. During the next couple of weeks, I will share those concerns with you, the CITIZENS of WEST LIBERTY WARD #3 and WRIGLEY.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory Of Jason Wayne Gevedon Oct. 9, 2006 • Oct. 9, 2008

Its strange how things turn out--2 years ago--Joe was so vibrant and having to deal with something so tragic. The loss of one of his friends he graduated with, Jason Wayne Gevedon. Joe and Jason had a lot of good times together. They were friends until the end. Joe was a pallbearer in Jason's funeral.

It was really hard on Joe losing Jason and he went to check on Leora very often. Then only a little over 4 months later--we were having to deal with the death of Joe. We put Jason down as an honorary pallbearer in heaven for Joe's funeral. This would have been what Joe would have wanted. At Jason's funeral, it was so hard and thinking that we knew Leora's pain, but we had no idea--until we lost Joe. Now we know all about it--it's gotten a little better, but it will never be the same.

Leora on this day--we pray for you--we all miss Jason and Joe--but they are together now.

Fifth grade students at West Liberty Elementary recently completed a unit on Native Americans. The culminating activity for them was creating a native shelter. Their teachers, Mrs. Tonya Patrick, Mrs. Charlene Lewis, and Mrs. Michelle McCarty, were very impressed with the quality of work that these students completed. Great job, kids!

Lower Elkfork

Oct. 8--I was watching W.L.J.C. Wednesday night, Oct. 8, and there was an old lady and she was blind and she had been blind all of her life. She sang three beautiful gospel songs and did a real good job singing. Her name was Garnetta, I think, and they said she was married and had one daughter. As she was singing I watched her and was thinking how sad that she lived to be old and never got to look at her child when she was growing up and I thought Oh! how sad it was too that she never got to see the world and all its beauty, beautiful flowers that bloom and all of God's handiwork and I was thinking how hard it was for her to do a woman's work and raising her child and never seeing anything. How dark her world was all her life and she was a Christian lady and doing God's work and singing gospel songs. I know she was a blessing to all the T.V. viewers. I know I enjoyed watching her and I cried and prayed for her. I felt so sorry for a precious old lady that was working and serving God and was trusting for Him. She was a blessing to everyone that seen her on T.V. and a blessing to the world. We need more like her. She didn't wear eye glasses either. May God bless and comfort her always.

I drove over to Joy's on Friday, Oct. 10. It was Jade's birthday and I didn't get to call her before I left and when I got there they were gone. I left Jade's birthday card and some more items at their home and I came on back and stopped at Old Mill Park and took a walk, and on back home.

Dempsey came on Saturday and went deer hunting and didn't kill one and he done some chores for me. I had a door that wouldn't lock and he repaired it for me. Thanks to him. He's a handy man. and I thank God for him and all my family. I love them all and would do anything I could for them. That's a Mother. If she could help her children she would.

How are you Jewell Lewis? Hope you are well, haven't heard from you in a while or seen you lately.

Barry came in Friday and removed my air conditioner from my window. Thanks to him. It's good to have the family to help do things for you. I am thankful.

Joy and I went to Morehead on Thursday, Oct. 9, for a doctor's appointment. I had some tests run. I hope they turn out good. We were tired.

When we returned home on our way back home I was looking and admiring all the beautiful scenery with so many different colors, red, orange, gold, yellow, purple and others and I was thinking how could any one believe that there wasn't a God in the Heavens above who performs miracles on earth for all to see. I've always believed in the good Lord above and always had a good Christian mother to take us to Sunday school and church. I'm so thankful for that. We didn't have any transportation. We would walk for miles to go to an old country church. That's one of my favorite songs, "The Old Country Church". I simply love that song, along with a lot of others.

Happy birthday to my beautiful granddaughter, Jade, on October 10. May you have many more. We love you.

We sure need a good rain, it's so dry. Maybe the good Lord will send some real soon.

I met up with a sweet young man in town on Saturday, Nathan Roberts. It was so good to see him and talk to him. He's a sweet and a nice boy. He invited to to come and visit with him and his family. I told him I'd love to go and visit them.

I've been so busy and on the sick list, too, but I'm trying to hang in there and thank God for bringing me through it all. He's the best friend we ever had. He never leaves us nor forsakes us.

Dempsey and Rosie has been attending a revival at Wells Creek in Elliott County. There were two souls saved in the revival. That was good. Glad to hear that.

Ray and Ruth Potter gave me some apples recently and I fried them. They were so good, the best I ever ate. I enjoyed them so much. Thanks so much.

We heard Rev. Vernon Lewis Sunday afternoon on W.L.K.S. W., West Liberty. He sure done a good job preaching. A good sermon and the gospel truth. Keep up the good work, along with all the others on the radio station.

I attended the walk at Old Mill Park Sunday afternoon. it was good. A large crowd attended, but it was sad. It brought back memories of the past.

How are you, ronnie and Debbie Flagg, of Dayton, Ohio? Hope you are fine. When are you coming home for a visit? Haven't heard from you in a while.

Please remember me when you pray. I've not been feeling up to par lately. I stay so weak and tired and can't hardly do my chores. I try to watch my diet and don't eat very much. I've lost a lot of weight.

Sympathy is extended to those who have lost loved ones. Get well wishes to the sick and shut ins.

"What Then"

As you lay your head down on your pillow expecting tomorrow to rise, just suppose there would be no tomorrow. Have you gained the most valuable prize? There are plans for tomorrow now forming, and memories of days which are past. Do your plans include those of most value? The results which most surely will last? will the memories that linger be precious when things of this earth pass away? Are they memories that build for the future? Or alas, do they fade and decay? Perhaps they hold joys for the present, and those things we thought weren't wrong. But to think of the life that's forever they somehow do not seem to belong. Ere you lay your head down on your pillow, Oh stop and consider your state. If tomorrow's sun had no arising are you ready? What then will await.

FOUR THINGS MONEY CAN'T BUY

You can win it with love, or a tender caress, and a trinket once in a while. But you can't, with all the wealth in the world, buy a tiny baby's smile. All the power on earth can't stop old time from constantly rolling on. And all the gold that this world can hold can't bring back youth when it's gone, and though you possess the wealth of kings and castles that reach to the sky, a good friend's love, so faithful and true, is something that money can't buy. They say a man's reach should exceed his grasp or what is Heaven for? The sublimest thing that money can't buy is a pass through Heaven's door.

Weed control options for pastures following a dry summer season

Dry weather conditions this summer following another dry season last year have resulted in grazed pastures with areas that have thin vegetative cover and bare soil. Many of these areas already have evidence of weedy vegetation such as common ragweed and other summer annuals. As these plants die back naturally, cool-season weeds such as common chickweed, henbit and purple deadnettle will fill in the voids. Other weeds such as buttercup and musk thistle will likely be more prevalent in the coming spring.

One option to tackle weed problems is to apply broadleaf herbicides in mid to late fall or early next spring. However, herbicides alone may not be the best solution to revitalize pastures for the next grazing season.

The first step to determine your weed management options is to do a critical evaluation of pasture fields. Not only do you need to take an inventory of the current weeds present, but also scout the field to look for any developing weed problems such as musk or other biennial thistles, poisonous hemlock, buttercup and common chickweed. Also, you should assess the growth of desirable forage grasses and legumes.

Your primary question then becomes – does the existing stand of desirable forages appear adequate and potentially competitive enough against any emerging weed problems? If the forage stand is acceptable and weed pressure is light, the best course of action likely is to do nothing this fall except other routine pasture management practices. However, if you do see developing weed problems then you may want to take action to begin correcting the problem. In some cases, there may be no good solutions that will correct all weed problems you have observed.

Here are some points to consider after you make those decisions. After you evaluate the pasture, you must decide whether or not to:

- Drill or overseed more forages into existing pasture to improve the stand of desirable forage grasses.

- Spray herbicides to control emerging broadleaf weeds.

You will not be able to do both at the same time since most pasture herbicides have the potential to injure newly emerging forage grasses or legumes. For pasture herbicides, which contain only 2, 4-D, it is generally recommended to wait four to six weeks after spraying before reseeding forage crops.

Other broadleaf herbicides may require waiting six months or more between the application and seeding forage legumes; make sure and check the label of the specific herbicide product you use.

As a general rule of thumb, if you decide to spray this fall, you will need to wait until next spring before seeding additional forages. If you reseed first, then you should wait until the new seedlings have well-established root systems before applying herbicides. It is important to note that anytime you use broadleaf herbicides, you will likely kill any clovers or other desirable legumes in the treated areas.

One alternative to consider in some situations is using a total-pasture renovation technique to control or suppress growth of the weedy vegetation followed by interseeding more forage grasses or legumes. This assumes that you do not need the field for grazing animals until the newly-seeded forages become well established. In this approach, a herbicide product containing either paraquat or glyphosate is applied to "burn back" or kill all existing vegetation before reseeding. Since paraquat and glyphosate have no soil-residual activity, desirable forages can be interseeded into the soil immediately after herbicide application.

Yet another course of action is a "wait and see" approach. But, keep in mind that weeds are much easier to control when they are small and immature. Although you have several options to consider for managing weed problems in the fall, few of these options are viable without some badly needed rainfall.

Judge Wilhoit attends District Judges College

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 9 — District Judge Rupert Wilhoit, who serves Carter, Elliott and Morgan counties, participated in the 2008 District Judges College hosted Sept. 21-24 in Lexington by the Administrative Office of the Courts. District Court handles juvenile matters, city and county ordinances, misdemeanors, traffic offenses, probates of will, felony preliminary hearings, small claims and civil cases involving $4,000 or less. District judges serve four-year terms.

"Our goal is to equip district judges with the knowledge and skills needed to handle everyday issues that affect their courtrooms," said Chief Regional District Judge Karen A. Thomas, who serves Campbell County and is president of the Kentucky District Judges Association. "This college provided excellent sessions on the latest topics and core functions."

Thomas S. Hodson, professor and director of E.W. Scripps School of Journalism at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio, taught a session on media relations that explored the tension that often exists between journalists and the courts and methods for working effectively with the media. Rita Ruggles, program administrator for the state's Department of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities and Addiction Services, and several judges presented a session on medications associated with mental health issues.

Other sessions included a case law update, landlord and tenant law, juvenile contempt and status offenders, judicial ethics, preliminary hearings, criminal procedures and docket management. Kentucky district judges, Administrative Office of the Courts personnel and attorneys with the Justice and Public Safety Cabinet, the Department of Juvenile Justice and the Judicial Ethics Committee taught the sessions.

Chief Justice of Kentucky John D. Minton Jr. also addressed the judges during the college. This was the first District Judges College since Chief Justice

Minton took office.

The Administrative Office of the Courts supports the activities of 4,000 Kentucky Court of Justice employees, including the elected justices, judges and circuit court clerks. The AOC Division of Judicial Branch Education provides regular training colleges for district judges.

Sen. Blevins faces challenge by White in 27th Senate race

Democrat State Senator Walter Blevins of Sandy Hook, a veteran legislator and a Morgan County native, faces a challenge in the Nov. 4 election for the 27th District Senate seat from Republican Richard White, a prominent Morehead businessman.

Blevins, a longtime legislator, who has also served a number of terms in the House, defeated White in the 1992 Senate race.

Blevins is a West Liberty dentist. White is owner of Richard White Wood Products in Morehead.

The 27th District includes Elliott, Fleming, Lawrence, Rowan, and Boyd counties.

TRUST HIM

There is one who if we trust Him guides our life o'er swelling tide. He came down on earth to save us, on the cross for us He died. Trust Him now, accept thy Saviour, for but He can sin atone. Trust Him, and when twilight cometh, He will not leave thee alone. Trust Him while thy life remaineth. He will gladden all thy days. Trust Him and for mercies given, ceaseless sing His glorious praise.

Health Dept. reminds public to get flu immunizations

The Gateway District Health Department reminds the public to practice good health habits at home, work and school. The flu shot and common practices are the best defense against the flu.

“As the flu season approaches we are urging residents to practice good hygiene habits, such as covering their mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing and wash hands frequently. Colds and flu are spread by droplets of an infected person landing on or coming into contact with susceptible persons. Some bacteria and viruses can live two hours or longer on surfaces like cafeteria tables, doorknobs, desktops, and shopping carts. Many stores offer the sanitary wipes at the entrance of their stores.

For the convenience of the public, flu clinics are conducted in all local health departments and many local businesses. Private physician offices are providing the vaccine as well. The local health department staff often travel throughout the community to administer flu vaccine to those individuals who are unable to travel or for those with work schedules that make it difficult to obtain the vaccine during normal hours.

“We believe the vaccine is crucial to prevent illness in the community especially for those most likely to suffer severe complications like pneumonia,” said James Ratliff, Director for the Gateway District Health Department. “Young children and the elderly are most susceptible and are frequently hospitalized resulting from flu illness”, he further explained.” In the past young children were not targeted for this immunization however the recommendations have changed and this population has now been identified as not only more susceptible to complications but are also most likely to transmit the illness,” Ratliff explained.

In addition to covering your cough and sneeze, other good health habits that can help prevent the spread of flu are:

- Wash hands often with soap and water for 15-20 seconds, or use alcohol based sanitizer-the health department has installed hand sanitizers in all public schools in the Gateway area for this purpose.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose or mouth
- Get the flu shot
- Avoid close contact with people who are sick
- Stay home when you are sick and avoid crowds
- Teach your children good respiratory hygiene, like coughing into the bend of the elbow instead of the hand

Flu is responsible for approximately 200,000 hospitalizations and 36,000 deaths a year in the United States. While it is a serious virus it is also a preventable one.

Ky. Chautauqua presents Daniel Boone: Pathfinder

Scott New as Daniel Boone: Pathfinder
Kentucky Chautauqua presents Scott New as Daniel Boone: Pathfinder. This presentation will take place at Morgan County Public Library on Thursday, Oct. 16, at 7 p.m. (Room 201-Library). Refreshments served from 6 to 7 p.m.
Daniel Boone was born in 1734 in Berks County, Pennsylvania, a son of Quaker immigrants Squire and Sarah Boone. As a young boy he was more interested in exploring the woods instead of helping his father in the fields growing crops. At age 12 or 13, young Daniel got his first gun. He used it to provide game for the family table.
The Boone family moved to Yadkin Valley, in North Carolina, in the early 1750s. In 1756 Daniel was united in marriage to Rebecca Bryan. Daniel spent most of his time farming, hunting, and raising their nine children.
His first venture into Kentucky came in 1767, though he didn't know he was there. In 1769, he crossed Cumberland Gap on a two-year hunting expedition during which he explored Kentucky all the way to the Ohio River. He eventually led six families, including his own, to settle in Kentucky.
Mark your calendars and come, learn more about the adventures of American's best-known frontiersman.

Area schools are awarded mini-grants

The Kentucky Appalachian Higher Education Center (KY AHED) awarded checks in the amount of $5,000 each to 20 high schools and four community and technical colleges during a ceremony recently at Morehead State University.

The schools applied for competitive mini-grants and were required to develop a one year college access program that they will implement in their schools to help raise college-going rates.

The 20 grantee high schools for this year are Prestonsburg, Elliott County, Buckhorn, Powell County, Wolfe County, West Carter, Owsley County, Lee

County, Hazard Independent, Jackson City, Harlan County, Knott County, Knox County, North Laurel, Lawrence County, Leslie County, Letcher County, Lewis County, Magoffin County, and Morgan County. The four community and technical colleges are Ashland, Big Sandy, Hazard and Southeast.

The KY AHED Center, headquartered at MSU, works under a grant received from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) in Washington, D.C. and the Governor's Office of Local Government.

To receive a mini-grant, new high schools must compete for a one-year Access grant that is specifically designed to focus on activities to encourage students to pursue higher education.

Additional information is available from Keith Walker, KY AHED grant coordinator, by calling (606) 783-9519.

Electric Air-to-Air Heat Pumps

Electric air-to-air heat pumps are basically reversible air conditioners. They transfer heat from the air in one location to the air in another. In summer, they operate as air conditioners, transferring heat from the home. In winter, they reverse their operation, gathering heat from air outside the home and transferring it inside. Most heat pumps deliver conditioned air to the home using ductwork.

Since heat pumps transfer rather than generate heat, they can be extremely efficient, delivering more than three times as much heat as they consume in energy. In many parts of the country they are the least expensive way to heat and cool a home. Heat pumps have the additional advantages of providing heating and cooling in one unit using a single energy source. In addition, heat pumps do not require flues and avoid roof penetrations, and associated installations and labor costs.

Air source heat pump efficiency depends on outdoor temperature. In the heating mode, performance drops as the outside air temperature drops. In cold climates, these units require a supplemental heating system which operates during times when the unit cannot produce enough heat to maintain the desired indoor temperature. Electric resistance back-up is most common, but gas, oil, and LP gas back-up heating systems may also be used.

Morgan Middle advances to conference championship

Conference title on the line this evening at Herdman Field

Last Thursday at Herdman Field, the Morgan Middle Cougars hosted round one of the playoffs. The JV team played the Mason County Royals, and the varsity was in action against the Nicholas County Blue Jackets.

The JV team came into their game with a record of 7-1. The JV team was the #1 seed in their district, and lost only one game by a touchdown. The young Cougars were never really tested in this game and cruised to a 34-0 win over Mason. The JV team will host the championship game on Saturday, October 18th at 1:00 p.m. They will be playing the Rowan County Vikings in a rematch of a game played on September 18th. The Cougars won, narrowly, 12-8.

Following the JV action, the varsity team took the field with a perfect 14-0 record. The Cougars dominated Nicholas, scoring on a 57 yard run by Joe Holbrook on just the third play of the game. Holbrook finished with 11 yards on just five carries, with two TD's and one PAT. The "thunder" of the Cougar rushing attack, Walker Crase, also had a great game with 63 yards on five attempts. Jordan Whitt carried the ball six times for 36 yards and one TD. Quarterback Larrin Collins completed the longest pass of the year on a 40 yard touchdown strike to Kody Thornsberry. Tyler Conley also had one carry for three yards and a touchdown. As a team, the Cougars had 245 yards rushing on 25 carries for an average of 9.8 yards a carry.

Defensively, the Cougars were led by the superior play of LB's Walker Crase and Austin Arnett, who had seven tackles apiece. Jordan Whitt played a phenomenal game at defensive end with six tackles (two for a loss). Tyler Conley had four tackles (one for a loss) and with three each were Eli Haney and Larrin Collins. The Cougars held Nicholas to only two first downs for the entire game as they cruised to a 32-0 win.

The Varsity team will play Bath County in the championship game of the conference this evening at Herdman Field. Game time is 6:00 p.m.

Terry's TD's pace Bath in 41-0 shutout

By David Patrick

Bath County's Zach Metz and Aaron Ashbyboyd combined for 333 yards rushing and two touchdowns as the Wildcats beat visiting Morgan County, 41-0, last Friday.

Metz capped his team's opening drive with a two yard touchdown for an early 7-0 lead. Ashbyboyd then turned in the play of the night when he broke into the secondary, cut across the field and ran down the sidelines for a 44 yard touchdown. The Cats held a 14-0 lead after one quarter.

While Metz and Ashbyboyd continued to pile up yards, Josh Terry assumed the scoring duties. Terry scored on runs of nine and two yards, respectively, in the second period to give Bath a 28-0 lead at the half.

Terry then added touchdown runs of 23 and five yards to make it a 41-0 game. The Wildcats finished with 457 rushing yards, while holding Morgan to just 137.

"There was just no excitement in our team," said Cougar head coach Jake Purnell. "We did have some good individual efforts. Jacob Flack played hard on defense before getting hurt. And Jared Curd and Joel Nickell did a nice job with one-on-one coverage in the secondary, as did James Ferguson at outside linebacker. But as a team, we simply didn't take what Bath gave us."

Flack carried the load on offense as well with 15 carries for 71 yards. Curd had eight rushes for 33 yards. The sophomore quarterback also completed one pass to Cameron Dunn for 11 yards. Curd was intercepted

Cats Can't Solve Spurrier

Steve Spurrier continues to cast an unwanted spell on Kentucky football. Last Saturday, for the 16th consecutive time, the 'ole ball coach dashed the hopes of the Big Blue nation with a 24-17 win at Commonwealth Stadium.

Most everyone (this writer included) thought this was certainly the year the Cats finally knocked the visor off Spurrier's noggin. After all, how many times can he possibly find a way to beat UK. Evidently, as often as he wants!

Kentucky can't seem to solve the Spurrier puzzle. On paper, the Gamecocks were no better than UK last season or this year. Stephen Garcia and Chris Smelley are average SEC quarterbacks, at best. And although South Carolina came into the game boasting the conference's best defense. It was UK that led the nation in fewest points allowed (7) per game. But still, it's Spurrier's team that found a way to convert multiple times on third down—while UK finished an embarrassing 1 of 16.

Quarterback Mike Hartline appeared lost against the Gamecock defense, completing only 23 of 43 passes for 152 yards and two interceptions. Despite his struggles, coach Rich Brooks elected not to pull the plug on Hartline in favor of freshman Randall Cobb (not a popular decision among the Wildcat faithful). And to make matters worse, Dicky Lyons, Jr.—the team's one and only dependable receiver—left the game with an injured knee and is done for the season (and his career) with a torn ACL. It was indeed that kind of day.

Which brings us to Saturday's matchup with Arkansas. By losing to South Carolina, Kentucky has put its back against the proverbial wall. Arkansas is a mediocre SEC team—having lost to Alabama, Texas and Florida before beating Auburn last Saturday, 25-22. UK can ill afford to lose a second straight home game—and especially not to Arkansas. Having a 5-2 record in mid-October lends itself to a much brighter bowl picture than does 4-3.

Scouts PRIDE project

Members of Boy Scout Troop 109 and Cub Scout Pack 111 completed a four hour PRIDE service project on October 11. The scouts removed two pick-up truck loads of roadside trash from Highway 844 and Bethel Chapel Road, including several box springs, mattresses, junked computer accessories, and a large roll of discarded carpet. The PRIDE project was one of several activities the scouts participated in while camping over the weekend. Thanks David and Sue Peyton for allowing the scouts to camp on their farm on Stacey Fork. Any boys interested in joining the Boy Scouts of America can contact Lyle Walter at 743-2701 or Shannon Elam at 743-4648. Pictured with first truck load of trash along with several other bags they picked up are, from left, Matthew Workman, Hunter Evans, Marcus Keeton, Kerrick Walter and John Aragon. Participating but not pictured were A.J. Aragon and Lyle Walter.

Bath County became the first team to shut out the Cougars this season. Morgan has now been outscored 286-46—an average deficit of 40 points per game. “We come out and get a 28 yard run from Curd and it looks like we’ll be able to move the football,” Purnell said in describing his team’s offense early in the game. “But again, we can’t string anything together. It also hurt when we lost Flack in the third quarter. I believe he was on his way to a 100 yard game.”

Your Social Security

If you are like millions of Americans, you spent two exciting weeks in August cheering on the United States at the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing as U.S. athletes brought home more medals than any other nation in the world – a full 110 of them!

In fact, Michael Phelps himself brought home more gold medals than anyone in the history of the Olympics. If Phelps were a country, he would be tied in 10th place with France, Ukraine and the Netherlands for the most gold medals won – quite a force to be reckoned with.

Now, consider this: If there was an Olympics for websites, www.socialsecurity.gov would be the Michael Phelps of that competition. Over the years, Social Security's website has been not only among the best in government, but the best in all industries.

For example, Social Security's Multilanguage Gateway, our website that provides important information to people in 15 languages, received the Standard of Excellence WebAward in the government category from the 2007 Web Marketing Association competition. The 2007 WebAwards named the best website marketing departments in more than 33 countries from around the world. Just recently, in the second quarter of 2008, Social Security's website brought home the Gold, Silver and Bronze! The American Customer Satisfaction Index (ACSI) tracks customer satisfaction and rates websites for their performance. ACSI rated three of Social Security's websites as the three top sites in government. The websites cited were the Social Security's online application for extra help with Medicare prescription drug coverage, the online application for Social Security benefits and Business Services Online. We expect to take home the medals again – current scores show that our new online Retirement Estimator is scoring even higher than those three winners.

Microsoft Corp., with Government Technology's Public CIO Magazine, awarded Social Security the Microsoft Government Solutions Award in the Government to Citizen category. This award is for e-initiatives aiming to enhance government-to-government or government-to-citizen interaction, transactions and/or service and was given to recognize the Internet Social Security Benefit Application.

Whether you want to plan your retirement or apply for it, look into other benefits available or learn about the history of the program, you can do it all at Social Security website. Visit the Olympic websites: www.socialsecurity.gov.

A deacon asked, “Pastor, what happened to your face?”

“I was concentrating on my sermon while shaving,” he answered, “and I cut my face.”

“Next time concentrate on your shaving,” said the deacon, “and cut your sermon.”

But here's a sermon that doesn't need cutting. It's an ocean of thought in a drop of language. It means everything to me.

Our Lord said, “For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.”

God loved and gave. We believe and have. Could anything be better?
